

Harold Stewart Is Named To Newly-Created Board

Seven prominent businessmen and education leaders from Eastern Indiana have been named to the newly-created board of trustees of the Indiana Vocational Technical College's first regional institute.

The appointments were announced in Terre Haute by Fredrick M. Hadley, IVTC president.

Named were: Professor John Blossome, vice president of Rose Polytechnic Institute; Warren Bogue, plant manager for Anacosta Aluminum Company; Mrs. Milton V. Caldwell, member of the Terre Haute School Board; and Virgil Morris, secretary-treasurer of the International Laborers Union, all of Terre Haute; Mike Rendaci, owner of Mike's Motors, Inc., Clinton; Fred Stalnaker, Stalnaker Orchards, Farmersburg; and Harold Stewart, vocational teacher in Greencastle Community Schools, Greencastle.

The college was created by the 1963 General Assembly and charged with responsibility for post-high school vocational and technical education in Indiana. The law was amended in 1965 to give the college broader responsibilities. Included in the law is the provision that regional institutes with separate boards of trustees will be established throughout the state. Thirteen such institutes are planned for Indiana.

This first institute will serve Clay, Greene, Owen, Parke, Putnam, Sullivan, Vermillion, and Vigo Counties.

Each of the 13 regional boards will co-ordinate its activities with the IVTC state board of trustees. Together they will be responsible for determining the vocational and technical needs of the areas served, the manpower available for training or retraining, available facilities and curricula.

Each regional board must include representatives of manufacturing, commerce, labor, agriculture, the school board of the most populated city in the region, and public school vocational education teacher in the region. The latter, in this case Prof. Blossome, is appointed directly by the Governor.

More Snow On Tap For Rockies

By United Press International

A wintry storm brought more heavy snows and rains to the West today and spilled over into the Midwest in the form of thick fog.

Even New England felt the wintry weather, with occasional sleet and freezing rain falling.

More snow was forecast for the Rocky Mountains where Monday a blizzard forced volunteers back from their attempt to rescue two stranded hunters on the rugged Pinon Mesa near Grand Junction, Colo.

Winds hit 63 miles an hour at Rock Flats, Colo., near Denver, Monday and 50 mile an hour winds were clocked in Wyoming.

Sixty persons were forced to flee their Santee, Calif., homes when a dike containing a rain-swollen creek burst and threatened the low-lying homes.

The entire Pacific Coast was deluged with rain Monday, bringing the seasonal total at Los Angeles to nearly 8½ inches, more than four times the normal amount and bringing increased threats of mudslides. Another three inches was forecast for today.

More snow was expected today in the mountains of California, Nevada, Utah, Idaho and even in the normally mild climates of Arizona and New Mexico.

Russians Can Score Propaganda Victory

WASHINGTON UPI—Russia is in line to score an easy propaganda victory, if, as expected, she responds to hungry India's urgent plea for wheat, diplomatic sources said today.

The wheat is needed to fill a food gap that Indian officials blame on the United States. Their request for 2 million tons of U.S. wheat — submitted last August — went unanswered until early November and then they were told only that there would be a delay.

Diplomats in Washington predicted that the Russians, enjoying an unusual bumper crop this year, would come through with an emergency supply of wheat for a neat diplomatic coup.

The U.S. delay in responding to the Indian request comes at the worst possible time, according to Indian officials. Faced with two years of drought, a break in food shipments in January probably will cause shortages in February when Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government is facing a general election.

The last U.S. wheat ship is scheduled to leave for India Saturday. Her cargo would bring the American total to about 8.5 million tons for 1966.

But officials say it will take about 60 days from the time a new authorization is made until another ship can reach an Indian port, thus there will be a break in the wheat "pipeline."

Although both the State and Agriculture Departments are known to have recommended approval of the Indian request for more wheat, President Johnson has the final say in the matter. The White House has announced that a decision would be forthcoming on the basis of a newly completed survey of Indian needs.

Indiana Ninth In Enrollment, Purdue Is 21st

CINCINNATI, Ohio UPI — Indiana University ranks ninth in the nation in enrollment of full and part-time students.

Figures released by Dr. Garland G. Parker, University of Cincinnati admissions dean, showed Indiana's total enrollment was 44,651. Purdue ranked 21st with 30,269.

On the basis of full-time students, IU was 12th again this year with 34,590. Purdue was 19th with 22,774.

The California State Colleges ranked first in total enrollment with 193,118, while the State University of New York was first in full-time students with 119,190.

Total enrollment in 1,095 accredited universities, senior colleges, four-year and two-year colleges in the U.S. and Puerto Rico was 4,885,279, a 5.8 per cent increase over last year.

However, freshman enrollment was down .9 per cent, the first decrease in 15 years.

Rules On J. P. Jurisdiction

INDIANAPOLIS UPI—Atty. Gen. John J. Dillon ruled Monday that in counties of 250,000 to 500,000 population, a justice of the peace has civil jurisdiction only in his own township, but that for all other counties, jurisdiction is county-wide.

The question was raised by Justice George W. Schmidt of Decatur Twp., Marion County.

Lillon noted that the question of whether justices have jurisdiction within the county in which they are serving had been answered differently at different times by the legislature, and for different types of legal actions.

But after reviewing all the laws, Dillon concluded that "counties having a population of less than 250,000 and in counties having a population of more than 500,000, a justice has county-wide jurisdiction in civil cases and any resident of such counties can be made a party defendant to any civil action in any peace court located inside the county."

Nation's Doctors Must Sign Medicare Forms

Jurors Find For Defendant

A jury in the Putnam Circuit Court Monday afternoon found for the defendant in a damage case which got underway a week ago. The jurors deliberated only two hours.

The defendant was Branson Dunlap and the plaintiff was Helen W. Storer, who was seeking $60,000 damage for personal injuries as result of a traffic accident.

The suit was venued here from Hendricks County.

Signs Contract

PARIS UPI — The French Berliet truck company announced Monday it has signed a contract to supply 600 15-ton trucks to Communist China for $16 million. It was the second such contract between Berliet and the Chinese Reds. In 1965 Berliet agreed to supply 1,035 trucks and help Peking set up plants to make their own vehicles for $46 million.

To wind up the Moose 52nd anniversary in Greencastle, there will be a dance Saturday night with music by a local band. This year the Moose members will distribute food baskets to the needy and fruit baskets to the sick and shut-ins as their annual community service.

The government doesn't plan to budge in its positions. Specifically, the Social Security Administration, which administers Medicare, commented on instances at hospitals in Lancaster and Mount Vernon, Ohio, where several doctors have refused to sign so-called "certification" forms.

As a result, the Lancaster-Fairfield Hospital has been refused about $60,000 in federal Medicare payments because of the doctors' stand.

"Certainly the situation in these towns is not indicative of the medicare professional generally or the American Medical Association," said Charlotte Crennan, a spokesman for the Social Security Administration.

She said that once the legislation was passed by Congress, "the AMA has bent over backwards to be cooperative with us and with hospitals." The AMA bitterly opposed Medicare when it was before Congress last year as a step in the direction of "socialized medicine."

Miss Crennan added that as soon as the doctors in Lancaster sign the required forms, the hospital will receive the funds due. She said the only other instance similar to the Ohio situation occurred at Muncie, Ind., several months ago, but it has been resolved.

Two U.S. Planes Reported Lost

SAIGON UPI — U. S. jets battled Communists MIGs while striking North Vietnamese targets in force for a fourth straight day, military spokesmen said today. The loss of two American planes was reported, but not as a result of dogfights with the Russian-built jets.

U. S. spokesmen said the air raids Monday caused "heavy damage" to missile launching sites and rail yards in North Viet Nam's industrial heart some 70 to 90 miles northwest of Hanoi. The heavily fortified area includes key transportation routes between the North Vietnamese capital and Communist China.

An Air Force RF101 Voodoo reconnaissance plane was shot down by ground fire in the action, spokesmen said. The other loss, an Air Force F105 Thunderchief, was attributed to unknown causes. Both pilots were listed as missing.

Four persons appeared in the Putnam Circuit Court Friday afternoon and all four entered pleas of guilty when arraigned to charges filed against them.

Noble E. Matthews, 49, was charged with making harassing and threatening telephone calls.

The defendant was sternly admonished by Judge Francis N. Hamilton who then took his case under advisement.

Mary Coleman, 20; Jean Davis, 20, and Evelyn Montgomery, 15, were charged with shoplifting.

The three were specifically charged with taking five shirts at the Montgomery Ward store last Thursday.

They also admitted being in other local stores before being taken into custody by city police.

Judge Hamilton withheld judgment but placed all three on probation to Mrs. Mildred Hervey, Putnam County Probation Officer.

The two young women were also ordered to stay out of all stores unless accompanied by their husbands.

In the case of the 15-year-old girl, Judge Hamilton ordered her to stay out of stores unless accompanied by her mother and to attend school regularly.

Judge Hamilton and Police Chief Roy Newgent have issued a warning to Greencastle merchants to be on the alert for shoplifters, especially during the current Christmas shopping season.

Two Sentenced In Circuit Court

Bernie Clements, 34, Michigan City, pleaded guilty in the Putnam Circuit Court Monday afternoon to escaping from an honor detail while working at the Logansport State Hospital.

Clements, who had been an inmate at the Penal Farm at Putnamville, was sentenced by Judge Francis N. Hamilton to serve 1-5 years in the Indiana State Prison.

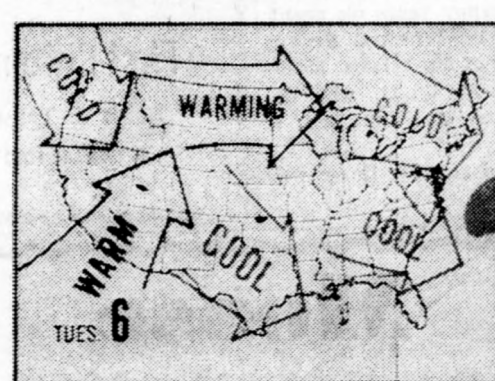

Carl Rex Hodge, city, pleaded guilty to a charge of furnishing alcoholic beverages to a minor.

He was sentenced to serve 60 days at the State Farm and fined $50 and costs.

15 Shopping Days till CHRISTMAS

(By Bernard Brenner)
WASHINGTON UPI — A prominent Farm Belt Democrat plans to buck Johnson administration opposition early next year and push for extra government payments to wheat growers.

The payment would be designed to persuade farmers to increase production to help meet overseas aid needs and rebuild the nation's dwindling wheat reserves.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., a member of the Senate Agricultural Committee and one time director of Food for Peace aid programs, will introduce a bill calling for the wheat payments soon after Congress opens in January.

Just how much McGovern will propose offering wheat growers was uncertain. The senator has, in the past, supported plans to give farmers 25 cents per bushel in "export certificate" payments on about two-thirds of the total wheat crop.

But an aide said McGovern is also studying an alternative proposed by some South Dakota farm leaders. This plan calls for export payments of 65 cents a bushel on 35 per cent of the wheat crop.

Farmers who now comply with government planting allotments for the 1967 crop are guaranteed a basic price support loan of $1.25 per bushel for all of their wheat.

On top of this, growers get directly government payments which may be about $1.36 a bushel for about one-third of their crop.

The payment is designed to bring farm returns for wheat used as food in the U.S. up to the full "fair earning power" parity level.

On all wheat grown beyond the domestic market share, however, farmers are currently guaranteed only the $1.25-a-bushel support loan. McGovern's plan would add extra income to this last portion of the wheat crop.

McGovern's move grows out of his charge last month that the administration was making a "timid and uncertain" start in what had been billed as a stepped-up war against world hunger.

The Agriculture Department has raised 1967 wheat planning allotments by 30 per cent, but McGovern said the department's refusal to offer any price guarantee for the extra wheat beyond the standard $1.25-a-bushel support loan would give farmers little incentive to produce the needed grain.

Capital farm sources predicted McGovern's plan would face an uphill fight against administration reluctance to increase federal farm spending next year.

Penney Issues Special Checks

Associates at the J. C. Penney Company department store in Greencastle received a year-end special payment Monday.

Manager Cloyd Moss explained that checks will go to regular and part-time associates employed on or before Dec. 31, 1966, with the exception of members of the management staff.

Said Mr. Moss: "The year-end special payment is one of many benefits shared by Penney associates throughout the Company. It is another way the Company demonstrates interest in the welfare of people who are responsible for its continued growth."

The payment this year is in addition to regular Company provisions for sick benefits, medical insurance, group life insurance, Penco Retirement Plan, discounts on purchases, and others.

Man Is Charged With Murder

INDIANAPOLIS UPI—Thomas L. Jones, 36, Indianapolis, was slated to appear in court Tuesday on a murder charge in connection with the shooting death of his father-in-law, Thomas Estep, 59, also of Indianapolis.

Jones is accused of shooting Estep in the Jones home following a quarrel with his wife Friday night. Police said Jones left the house and returned with a pistol and fired shots into the house. One of the bullets apparently struck Estep. He died Monday at General Hospital.

Police had been searching for Jones following the incident. He appeared at police headquarters Monday morning to answer to charges of assault and battery when it was discovered Estep died.

Hearing Slated

GARY UPI—A hearing has been set for Dec. 15 to determine the validity of charges by a 74-year-old widow that an East Chicago Heights, Ill., youth beat her husband to death.

The youth, Ernie Drake, 15, was accused by the woman of beating her husband, Peter Baron, 72, to death following a robbery for which Drake is serving a 10-25 year term in the Indiana State Reformatory.

She alleged the youth entered their home after holdup of a liquor store and beat Baron to death.

Progress Reported By CWS Sewing Group

The Church World Service International Sewing Group at its last four meetings has prepared another box of new garments for refugees abroad. Made by CWS patterns, the clothing included thirteen five-piece layettes, six dresses with shorts, five boys' shirts and 7 boys' shorts. Nine bundles of bandage pads were also part of the shipment, which will be designated partly for Africa and partly for the Near and Far East.

The Sewing Group continues to grow and to welcome women willing to give their time and skill to others in this way. The newest project is making patchwork quilts; the ladies need fabric scraps for patches and old blankets and such for filler and backing. The Putnam County Council of Churches has given most of the group's funds for supplies, but individuals' contributions of money and goods are also necessary and welcome.

People who cannot join the good fellowship of the meetings but who would like to sew at home may get patterns or bandage materials from the group at any meeting or may call OL 3-9694 to have them sent. The Sewing Group will not meet in December but will assemble again on the third Monday in January, the sixteenth, from 1 to 3 p.m. at the First Baptist Church.

Seek Sanctions Against Rhodesia

LONDON UPI — Britain moved quickly but gingerly today to seek mandatory United Nations economic sanctions to punish Rhodesia's breakaway government.

Rhodesia Prime Minister Ian Smith's rejection Monday of British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's final demands for a negotiated settlement of the 13-month-old independence crisis came as a surprise blow.

Foreign Secretary George Brown was dispatched to the United Nations today to direct the appeal for sanctions at a Security Council session Thursday. Wilson was addressing the British nation tonight.

The address was scheduled for 4 p.m. EST.

Government departments made final assessments of the weakest spots in the Rhodesian economy, mostly agricultural and mineral, to recommend the most damaging boycott targets — and those which would be least likely to backfire on Britain's own shaky economy.

Gun Victim

CLAY CITY, UPI — Gene West, about 48, Clay City, was killed when a pistol he was cleaning discharged Monday.

Clay County Sheriff Glenn Van Horn said West dropped the .22 caliber weapon while cleaning it and it discharged. West had been hunting with the pistol.

He died at Clay County Hospital shortly after the shooting, which Van Horn ruled accidental.

London was the first city to transport people underground (1886).

Corn Harvest Is Slowed

INDIANAPOLIS UPI — Rain and freezing temperatures last week slowed the corn harvest in Indiana. The harvest was about 20 per cent incomplete, unchanged from a week earlier.

Robert E. Straszheim, Purdue agricultural statistician, said the corn harvest is somewhat behind both last year and the five-year average.

Northwest Indiana's corn harvest was nearly complete, Straszheim said, but was 85 per cent complete in the western third and 75 per cent in the eastern counties.

Activities were confined mostly to maintenance and routine chores while two days last week were considered favorable for field work.

Topsoil moisture was rated adequate.

All up to stands, the winter wheat crop goes into the winter months in good condition, Straszheim said.

(By LYLE WILSON)

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is training for another end run around the Johnson-Humphrey administration. Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., a blocking back of much experience, will run interference. Ribicoff got his reputation blocking for John F. Kennedy in the 1960 Kennedy-Nixon contest.

Ribicoff and Kennedy will mark the Christmas season with a grab for big city support generally regarded as the right property of Johnson-Humphrey. Ribicoff is chairman of a Senate committee with a long name and a longer reach into urban politics. It is the executive reorganization committee of the Senate Governmental Operations Committee. Kennedy is the star performer. Chairman Ribicoff and Kennedy paired last summer in an investigation billed as the crisis of the cities.

Out of this Ribicoff-Kennedy crisis inquiry came big headlines. Some of them reported Bob Kennedy's hard line with witnesses who displeased him. Other headlines capsuled adverse criticism of Great Society methods and achievements in the critical areas. When mayors began telling what they need from the federal Treasury even Kennedy was astonished. Detroit's needs were estimated at $15 billion above present allocations over a 10-year period. New York Mayor John V. Lindsay had similar ideas. It was calculated that if all great cities bid for more than $1 trillion. A trillion is one thousand million.

That was too much for Kennedy who told the mayors no such sums would be available. Bob K. did not indicate the maximum aid figure which would be satisfactory to him. You may be sure, however, that Bob's maximum will be in excess of anything Johnson has proposed or is likely to propose unless political emergency compels him to out-bid Kennedy. That would be quite a bidding contest. LBJ and RFK are equally free with other people's money, other people being the hump-back taxpayers.

The theme of last summer's Ribicoff-Kennedy inquiry will be the theme this month when the inquiry is resumed. The theme is a complaint against lack of planning and lack of coordination in Johnson's Great Society. This theme is dominating subcommittee public hearings which resumed this week. Ribicoff accompanied disclosure of his plans with a complaint that: "One of the great problems of city planning is the tendency of the executive branch to run the whole show."

This complaint against centralization of government power in Washington at the expense of the cities and states is out of character for Ribicoff and equally so for Kennedy. Both are orthodox liberals. They believe in the big brother concept of big government. But bad management and the unsatisfactory results of some of LBJ's Great Society adventures comprise a week area in the Johnson-Humphrey political defenses. Ribicoff and Kennedy could not be expected to ignore such a target.

Ribicoff makes no claim to administration support for his plan for bigger and better spending on the ill-housed, ill-fed, ill-clothed. On the contrary, he and Bob are strictly on their own. LBJ has no intention of helping them play some big time politics at his expense. The Ribicoff-Kennedy advantage over Johnson is enormous. However absurdly impossible their new urban subsidy plan may be, they can offer it in Congress next year without any further responsibility. If LBJ joined in this venture, he would be responsible for telling the people how he proposed to raise the money, what the new spending would do in terms of inflation. Kennedy is free of such details.

Russians Recall 'Good Old Days'

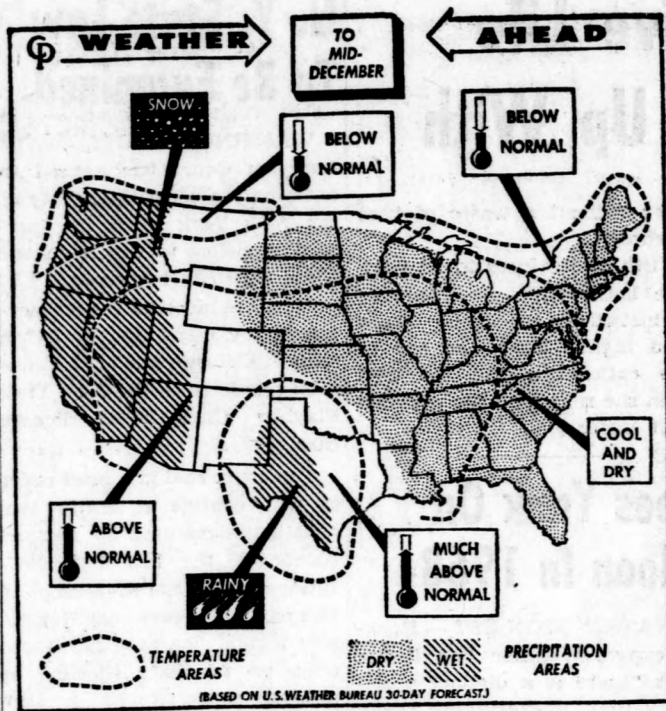

MOSCOW UPI—New praise of Josef Stalin's wartime role was published here today as the Soviet Union prepared to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the battle of Moscow.

The latest of a series of tributes to Stalin that have appeared recently was in an article in the newspaper Red Star by Marshal Ivan Konev, recounting the story of the battle that began Dec. 6, 1941.

"In those stern days," wrote Konev, "our Communist party, its central committee and the state committee of defense headed by J. V. Stalin firmly led and did everything possible to turn the capital into an inaccessible fortress."

Konev, former Warsaw pact commander, was one of the leading Soviet military leaders in World War II.

His pointed inclusion of Stalin's name in the Red Star article was regarded as another sign the Soviet Union is determined to restore some glitter to the tarnished image of the former dictator who was denounced in 1956 by then Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Defense Spending Is Chided

WASHINGTON UPI—The Defense Department—the world's No. 1 shopper—was chided by congressional investigators Monday for its lack of interest in giant, economy sized packages.

But as a result of prodding by the General Accounting Office (GAO), the Pentagon has started buying bargain quantities of coffee, sugar, flour and other non-perishable foods.

The GAO, Congress' watchdog on government spending, reported on a study it conducted of Defense Department purchases during the fiscal year that ended June 30, 1964.

GAO auditors found that the military could have saved $2 million of the tax payers' money if it had bought as many large size containers as it could have utilized.

Auto Destroyed

INDIANAPOLIS UPI—A "Molotov cocktail" destroyed a car in a parking lot of an industrial plant, and authorities were at a loss for an explanation.

Police said the bomb demolished a car at the Buehler Corp. plant, but plant officials said there has been no labor controversy. The plant employs about 900 persons.

Similar explosives were found in three other cars but they were not ignited.

Arrives For Visit

KARACHI UPI—Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer, vice president of the United Arab Republic, arrived by plane Monday from Cairo for a seven-day state visit which will include talks with Pakistani president Mohammed Aly Khan. A small band of students defied police by staging a pro-Egyptian, anti-American demonstration.

TV in review

(By Rick Du Brow)

HOLLYWOOD UPI—One of the oldest established permanent floating cliches in television is that former stars almost never succeed with comebacks in new series. I've quoted this theory often enough so that the other day I decided to check its basis in fact. I simply perused the current three-network schedule, and here is what I found:

Efram Zimbalist Jr., who was a success in "77 Sunset Strip," is doing nicely, thank you, in "The FBI." Dale Robertson, who formerly had a run as a Wells Fargo agent, now is rather solid in "Iron Horse." Fess Parker, once television's famous Davy Crockett, is in for an apparent long run as the same medium's Daniel Boone.

Bob Conrad, one of the stars of the old "Hawaiian Eye" series, is in his second season as the headliner of "The Wild, Wild West." Ben Gazzara, who formerly teamed up with Chuck Connors in a series called "Arrest and Trial," is doing quite well in "Run for Your Life."

Robert Culp, in case you may have forgotten, was the star of a good little Western series called "Trackdown," and now of course he is in the hit "I Spy." David Janssen, who had a series in which he played a private eye called Richard Diamond, has scored one of television's big personal successes as "The Fugitive."

Sebastian Cabot and Doug McClure both made impressions in the old "Checkmate" detective-type series, and both have done quite well in later ventures. Cabot is in "Family Affair," perhaps the new season's strongest-looking freshman entry in the ratings game.

And McClure has been a regular of the long-running Western, "The Virginian."

Howard Duff, who once had a series with his wife, Ida Lupino, is the star of "The Felony Squad," one of the few new weekly entries that got off to a fairly strong ratings impression, although it has since fallen off some. Judy Carne, who appeared some seasons ago in a short-lived but praised one-hour situation comedy series, "Fair Exchange," about two families, one British, the other American who swap daughters for a while, is costar of "Love on a Rooftop," which also has gained commendation.

Bob Denver, formerly of the "Dobie Gillis" comedy, has had a popular hit in "Gilligan's Island." Jim Backus, another regular in "Gilligan's Island," has had so many successful television credits including a series with the late Joan Davis that it is hard to keep up with him.

William Shatner, who made an impression as a prosecutor in "For The People," is the headliner of "Star Trek." And Art Carney, formerly with the Jackie Gleason Show, has had resounding success on his return to the new version of it.

Anyway, that's what I found and I didn't even look hard.

Wife Held In Mate's Stabbing

FRANKLIN UPI—Mrs. Barbara Shannon, 32, mother of five, was held on preliminary charges of first-degree murder in the stabbing death early Sunday of her estranged husband, James Shannon, 34.

Police quoted Mrs. Shannon as saying she stabbed what she thought was an intruder in her home.

Police said they had gone to the Shannon home several hours earlier when a neighbor complained of a disturbance. Mrs. Shannon told police her husband had been there but left before officers arrived.

Foreign News Commentary

(By Wolfgang Fahlke)

BERLIN UPI—A good friend of the United States is leaving West Berlin's city hall and his departure undoubtedly is being cheered by the Communist leaders on the other side of the "wall of shame."

Western allied officials in this Communist beleaguered city note the change with uneasiness, but there is not much they can do about it.

After nine years in office, West Berlin's defiant Lord Mayor Willy Brandt, an administrator of the late President John F. Kennedy, resigned and entered the new West German government. He was sworn in last Thursday as vice-chancellor and foreign minister of the new Christian Democratic-Social Democratic coalition government.

Brandt's successor in the city hall is to be Heinrich Albertz, a 51-year-old Prussian who is proud of his heritage. Since 1963, when he was elected vicemayor, Albertz ran the city's administration during Brandt's absence, which was about half of the time.

Western Allied officials are slightly apprehensive that in any dealings with the new mayor, they will have a more difficult time than they used to have with his predecessor.

The 53-year-old Brandt was, and still is, a man who would rather postpone a decision than jeopardize good relations with friends and allies.

In Berlin, where a decision unexpectedly made today could backfire tomorrow, this attitude on the part of the mayor often suited the allied officials.

For instance, they never had to make up their minds how to stop Communist border guards from shooting occasionally into West Berlin, endangering and sometimes wounding west Berliners.

Brandt understood the Western allies' reluctance in getting involved in shooting along the Berlin Wall, as well as their unwillingness to let the West Berlin police force take over Allied rights and responsibilities at the border where a gun battle might burgeon into a major conflict in no time at all.

Therefore, a decision on how to protect West Berlin lives against trigger-happy Communist border guards has not been made yet.

Western allied authorities here know Albertz and they doubt whether he will be as pleasant and understanding in negotiations as Brandt was.

He has proven in the past that he does not hesitate to hurt allied feelings when he thinks protective actions are necessary.

Grandma's Active Life Hard To Keep Up With

By ROBERTA ROESCH

"I'm certainly glad I have more than one side," said the mother of five and the grandmother of two I visited at home to ask where she got the time, as well as the vitality, to live as many-sided life.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dunlavy and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Quick's Thanksgiving Day dinner guests were Miss Mariam Morgan of Paoli, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morgan of Boswell, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Morgan of Milwaukee, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. Darius Brogelin and daughters of Oolitic and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Muller and daughters of Indianapolis. Since Mrs. Dunlavy's birthday was on Tuesday, Nov. 29, they had decorated cake and celebrated that occasion, too.

The November Help-One-Another meeting was cancelled because of illness in the hostess' family. December meeting will be with Mrs. Mary Evans.

The Friendly Sewing Circle met all day Wednesday, Nov. 30, with Mrs. Ethel Eggers. All members except two were present and enjoyed a bountiful pitch-in dinner. It was a very pleasant meeting. The Christmas meeting will be held with Mrs. Effie Miles.

Mr. and Mrs. Oran Buis attended the Golden Wedding open house at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Woodall Sunday afternoon.

About 50 attended the family supper Sunday evening at the Methodist Recreation Building.

After a delicious meal Rev. Robert Harvey showed slides of food problems all over the world. Carols were sung. The committee, Mrs. Kathleen Day and Mrs. Thelma Eastham had Thanksgiving decorations. They were assisted in the clean-up by members of the M.Y.F.

Mark Luttrell fell off the horizontal bar at school early Monday morning and was taken to the Putnam County Hospital where three stitches were taken about the right eye.

N. Y. State Law To Be Examined

WASHINGTON UPI — The Supreme Court has agreed to examine the constitutionality of the New York State law permitting police to tap telephone wires with court approval.

The case involved the bribery-conspiracy conviction of Ralph Berger, Chicago public relations man convicted in the New York Playboy Club liquor license case.

The court said in a brief order it will confine itself to two questions presented by Berger: Assuming the law is constitutional, were the eavesdrops in this particular case constitutionally invalid "because not based upon an adequate showing of probable cause?"

Is the law itself unconstitutional "as setting up a system which intrinsically involves trespassory intrusion into private premises, 'general' searches for 'mere evidence,' and invasion of the privilege against self incrimination; and were these particular room eavesdrops unconstitutional on those grounds?"

Berger was convicted in November, 1964, of plotting with Playboy Club officials to bribe Martin C. Epstein, former New York Liquor Authority chairman, with $50,000 in exchange for liquor license for a club.

Nader Talks Auto Defects

WASHINGTON UPI — Auto safety crusader Ralph Nader believes there should be a law to force car-owners to have defects fixed after they are warned about them.

Nader made the proposal in a UPI interview Sunday. He said that, as of October, only 42 percent of the 1.8 million 1964 and 1965 model Chevrolets and Chevies with automatic transmissions had been repaired for potentially sticky throttles even though the owners were told in April.

Nader blamed both General Motors and the owners of the cars for the disappointment response to GM's offer to fix them. There were two reasons why the repairs had not been completed, he said.

"One is that the company is not making renewed attempts to get the cars back by mail and by calling up their dealers. The second reason is that a good number of car-buyers are just very neglectful and they don't bring them back even when they know about it."

He said owners of such cars endanger not only themselves but others on the road. "I think perhaps we can have penalties for drivers who refuse to bring them back when they are notified," he said.

The Chevrolets and Chevies Nader mentioned were so designed that snow and slush could accumulate around the throttle linkage in winter and freeze, causing the accelerator to stick.

GM's solution was to cover the linkage with special plates. The company said earlier it knew of no serious accidents caused by frozen throttle linkage.

Tigers Open At Home Tomorrow

DePauw University's varsity basketball team opens up its home schedule tomorrow night when it takes on Wabash College at 8 p.m. Preceding the 113th varsity tilt between the two Monon rivals will be a DePauw-Wabash freshman game beginning at 6 p.m. The Tigers came out of their tight opener with Indiana an 84-71 loser, but convinced that in 1966-67 they may have a lot to growl about. Coach Elmer McCall spent yesterday and today reviewing mistakes of the Indiana game, some of which were mental but many of which he chalked up to first game jitters against the Big 10 opposition. Wabash opened its season the same night, losing at Albion 82-79, but not before the Cavemen's slick backcourt man Terry Smith popped in 25 points and led Wabash out of a 45-31 halftime deficit to a 60-60 tie. Last year the Tigers and Cavemen split two games. DePauw lost 82-64 and won 82-69. Ready to play tomorrow for the Tigers are (left to right) Jack Hogan, Dan Schermer, Jeff McMurtrey, Jim Jackson, Tom McGurk, Mike O'Connell, Tom McCormick, Jim Gerhold, Howard Babcock, Denny Barrett and Dave Browning. In front are freshman coach Ed Meyer, left, and Elmer McCall, varsity coach.

SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

TIME IS A GREAT HEALER but in some cases, like baseball, it's a wheeler and dealer.

It seems only yesterday the fan flock was chanting, "Break Up the Yankees."

No more. The Yanks are broken up. But good. Two years ago the Yanks won their 29th pennant. Last Oct. 1 they finished the 1966 season in last place for only the third time in their history.

In that Series two years ago the Yankee lineup read like this: Phil Linz, shortstop; Bobby Richardson, second base; Roger Maris, center field; Mickey Mantle, right field; Elston Howard, catcher; Joe Pepitone, first base; Tom Tresh, left field, and Clete Boyer, third base.

The breakup is still on. Just the other day the Yankees peddled one more of their old guard, Clete Boyer. And, at season's end, Richardson, the dandy little second sacker, hung up his glove, and later, Whitey Ford was given his release. And Roger Maris is about ready to be cut or traded.

THE YANKEE winter work is cut out for the powers that be, including new general manager Lee MacPhail and manager Ralph Houk.

It's got to be the biggest rebuilding job in Yankee history for the three remaining big stars, like Mantle, Maris and Elston Howard, are aging fast. In fact, the plan now is to play Mantle at first base.

Coincidentally with the fall of the Yankees in New York came the fall of the New York Giants in the NFL. This was the same story, the old got older and the young 'uns didn't come through. And injuries helped in the de-leveling.

And also of note could be the 1967 season faced by the Dodgers, who have been doing it for a couple of years on pitching, and Maury Wills.

Sandy Koufax, the greatest of them all, is gone and Don Drysdale, his partner in mound crime, faded considerably last season. Wills, slowed by injuries and age, makes trade news at the winter baseball meetings.

THE DECLINE of the Yanks may be nice for baseball, in some quarters, but overall it's a bad deal.

The Yankee name at the box office more than made up for their hated name on the diamond.

Illinois Upsets 3rd Ranked Ky.

By Joe Gergen
UPI Sports Writer

Kentucky cried foul today but not as loud as the referees did Monday night in Lexington.

No fewer than three Kentucky starters, including All-America Pat Riley were whistled off the court as the Wildcats, defending national champions and currently the third-ranked team in the nation, bowed 98-97 in overtime to unheralded Illinois.

The most stunning upset of the young college basketball season was triggered by Rich Jones, a 6-foot-7 junior forward, who tallied 32 points for the Illini, and the officials, who spotted 30 Kentucky infractions.

Illinois, however, had to share the spotlight with another unranked Big Ten member, Michigan. The sophomore-dominated Wolverines, losers in their first two games, returned home to ambush fifth-ranked Houston 86-75.

Tebbetts to Manage Mets' Rookie Team

NEW YORK UPI — Birdie Tebbetts went back to where he came from today, a hamburger and bus league, and he claims he couldn't be happier.

"This won't be my first time in a bus league," laughed the 55-year-old former Cleveland, Milwaukee and Cincinnati manager, who will pilot the Mets' Marion (Va.) all-rookie team in the Appalachian League next season.

Leveque Winner

PARIS UPI — Middleweight Yolande Leveque outpointed fellow Frenchman Jacques Marty in an action-packed 10-round slugfest at the Palais des Sports Monday night.

In a scheduled 10-round supporting bout, France's Jo Gonzales scored a third round technical knockout over German welterweight champion Werner Lunde.

Clay, Terrell to Fight Feb. 6

NEW YORK UPI—A formal contract was to be signed at noon today by Ernie Terrell to meet world heavyweight champion Cassius Clay in a title bout at the Houston Astrodome on Feb. 6.

The usually soft-spoken Terrell, recognized by the World Boxing Association as heavyweight champion, vowed, "I'm going to beat him to a pulp; in fact, I'm going to knock him out."

"Clay said that he would quit if he is beaten," Terrell said after fighting a pair of two-round exhibition bouts in Philadelphia Monday night. "I'll make him quit. Let him be a minister, because all he does is preach. This will prove who is the real champion."

Killed By Train

LOGANSPORT UPI—Robert Stone, 36, Lebanon, a patient at Logansport State Hospital, was killed Monday when he apparently stepped into the path of a slow-moving freight train on hospital grounds.

Engineer H. E. Hart said Stone was walking alongside the tracks when it appeared he jumped sideways into the path of the Pennsylvania Railroad train. Stone was dragged 72 feet.

Viet Casualty

WASHINGTON UPI—Army Capt. Clifford Smith, son of Mrs. Lucille Bardwell, Indianapolis, has been listed by the Defense Department as killed in action in Viet Nam.

Lighter Side

(By DICK WEST)

WASHINGTON UPI—From the outset let me make it clear that no criticism of George Washington is intended or implied by what I am about to say about his birthday.

And I feel certain that Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., who has proposed that the birthday be changed, doesn't blame Washington either. After all, it wasn't Washington's fault that his birthday more often than not comes at an inconvenient time.

Washington was a child of the 18th Century. In those days a man had no control over when he would be born.

Furthermore, he had no way of knowing he would grow up to become the father of his country and that his birthday would become a national holiday.

And even if he had had some voice in the matter, he probably would have regarded Feb. 22 as about as good a date as any for a birthday. Which it is. About once every seven years.

The trouble, as Stratton pointed out in a news release this week, is that Washington's birthday keeps shifting around from one day of the week to another.

In one year it may be on Tuesday, the next year on Thursday, depending on how the calendar is running.

Either is a poor time for a holiday. As are Wednesday and Friday. And to a lesser extent, Saturday and Sunday.

In fact, the only sensible time for a holiday is Monday, which adds an extra day to the weekend.

This is why I was greatly cheered by Stratton's vow that he would make "a new and even more vigorous fight in the new 90th Congress for legislation designed to set the dates for four of the country's most important holidays on Mondays."

In addition to Washington's birthday, the list would include Memorial Day, Independence Day and Veterans Day.

Next year, for example, we would celebrate Washington's birthday on Feb. 20; Memorial Day on May 29; Veterans Day on Nov. 13 and Independence Day on July 3.

The following year it would be Washington's birthday on Feb. 19, Memorial Day on May 27, Independence Day on July 1 and here's a coincidence for you Veterans Day on Nov. 11.

I'll concede it might take a little time for us to become adjusted to the idea of celebrating the fourth of July on, say, the second of July.

But a little confusion is a small price to pay for a three-day weekend.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK UPI—James Dines & Co. says it still believes the near-term trend of the stock market to be unfavorable. The company says blue chips, especially motors, which led the market upward during the 1962-66 advance, now are on a definite downturn and other "backbone" stocks such as steels and rubbers also are acting badly.

The company says most bearish of all indicators for the market is the rejuvenation of the silvers and golds, which usually decline in a higher market and rise in a bear market.

Walter Mintz of Shearson, Hamill & Co. says the major question confronting the market in the next few weeks will be whether the administration will propose a substantial tax hike. Some analysts feel that with the many signs of a cooling off of the economy such a boost might have been obviated. Mintz stresses, however, that because of the many other uncertainties facing the list, a clear projection of the market's trend is not impossible.

The Alexander Hamilton Institute says investment sentiment has improved considerably from a month ago and the time is ripe for careful accumulation of selected stocks during periods of market weakness.

First False Step
Does The Damage
By Alfred Sheinwold

It's a serious mistake to open a box of candy when you're on a diet, and much the same principle applies to drawing trumps. The first one may not hurt, but you can't be sure of where it will all end.

West opened the jack of diamonds and declarer won with dummy's ace. Thinking he could afford the luxury of one round of trumps, declarer led dummy's low trump to the ace. It was an expensive luxury.

South led a low heart to dummy's queen and returned a heart. East played the nine, and South played low in the hope that the ace would fall early. This was correct play, since it would not have helped South to put up the king of hearts.

East cleverly returned the queen of spades, forcing out South's king. If South then drew East's last trump he would have to lose three heart tricks; and if South ruffed a heart in dummy he would lose a trump trick to the nine.

BEST RETURN
East could not defeat the contract by returning his lower trump. South would let it ride to dummy's ten, would later ruff a heart with the jack and could still draw East's last trump with the king.

South would make his contract if he resisted the temptation to draw trumps. Instead, he should lead the queen of hearts from dummy at the second trick.

Even if East got the chance to take a trump out of dummy, South would still manage to ruff two hearts with dummy's two remaining trumps. Declarer would thus lose only one heart, one trump and one club.

DAILY QUESTION
As dealer, you hold: S-Q 9 2; H-J 9 6; D-K 8 4; C-A K 10 5. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one club. You have 13 points, enough for an optional opening bid. You are willing to exercise your option since you can make a comfortable rebid of 1 NT if partner responds in a new suit.
